Dear Sister

Here are the various methods of spelling our surname over the years.

- 1781 Barleigh. Used when Freeman Burley sponsored his stepfather's release from prison.

1798 Burleigh. The spelling used in the censuses of New York State of Joseph and Cornelius, brothers of John our great, great grandfather.

1750 Burley. Tax list, Dutchess County N.Y.

} Various records during the American Revolution

Now you know as much as I do. John Parker spelled it -

Burleigh, like we do

Your brother, The W.C.

BURLEIGH-FREEMAN.

Traditional.

I have always been told by my family that these two families were related. It is said that the first Burleighs to come to Canada were the children of John Burley and his wife, who was a Freeman, and that all Freemans in this part of the world were off cousins.

It was further stated that three brothers, Burley, came to this country; two came at first, and were followed by several years by a third brother, Joseph.

Factual.

The U. E. List states that John, my great-great-grandfather, was the ~~son~~ stepson of Matthias Rose, U.E. This John was baptized by Rev. John Langhorn in 1791 as the son of John and Dorcas Burley. Freeman Burley, claimed as a brother of John, Jr., arrived from the U. S. with Wm. Rogers and certain Williams men (see notes sent to you) in 1781. Likewise, the Maldinand papers note the arrival of Matthias Rose, Sen, wife and 2 children in Oct., 1781. A further record of Loyalists at St. John states that Mrs. Mathias Rose, aged 48, with two children aged 16 and 11, in July 1781. This family appears in subsequent subsistence records and are shown to have settled in Ernesttown Township in June, 1784, as did Freeman Burley, the son who married Susannah Weese.

The rebel Committee for Detecting and Defeating Conspiracies, Apr. 16, 1778, had Wm. Rogers, Matthias Rose and Simon Earhart on the carpet for "having been with the enemy," and Gen. Schuyler suggested that they be set free (perhaps because they were his tenants). This was done and they were to appear regularly before the Committee. On Oct. 3, 1780, they appeared to enter into new recognizance. At this time Rose was allowed free on 200 lb. bail. The bail was arranged as follows:

Matthias Rose of Saratoga District LABORER in 200 lbs.

Freeman Burleigh of the same place FARMER his Bail in 200 lbs.

Then, when it is noted that John Rushby ~~was~~ enlisted with Jessup 21 Aug., '77, and was captured 10 Oct., 1777, I smell a story. I believe this to be John Burley, the father of Freeman and John, and the husband of Dorcas (I have asked a researcher in London to look at the original records to see if Rushby if Burley, as it well might). I suspect that this John died shortly thereafter, after which his widow, Dorcas, married Matthias Rose, a widower with two daus. I then assume that Rose moved in with the widow on her former husband's leased farm. I say this, as her eldest son, Freeman, was listed as farmer when he stood bail for Matthias Rose, laborer. Then, when Loyalist Claims were made, Rose was really claiming for his wife's property. Freeman made no claim.

In 1798, Joseph and Cornelius Burleigh, in Canada, applied for lands. This Joseph our family admitted was a brother of Freeman and John, and it is supposed that Cornelius was also. In fact, my people considered the offspring of Cornelius to be relatives. In the census of New York in 1790, these two men, both married, were residents of Dutchess County. This alone makes one suspect that John, Sr., and wife, Dorcas, had relatives and connection with Dutchess County. If so, then I suspect that relatives took two of the orphaned Burley children in 1777 or 8.

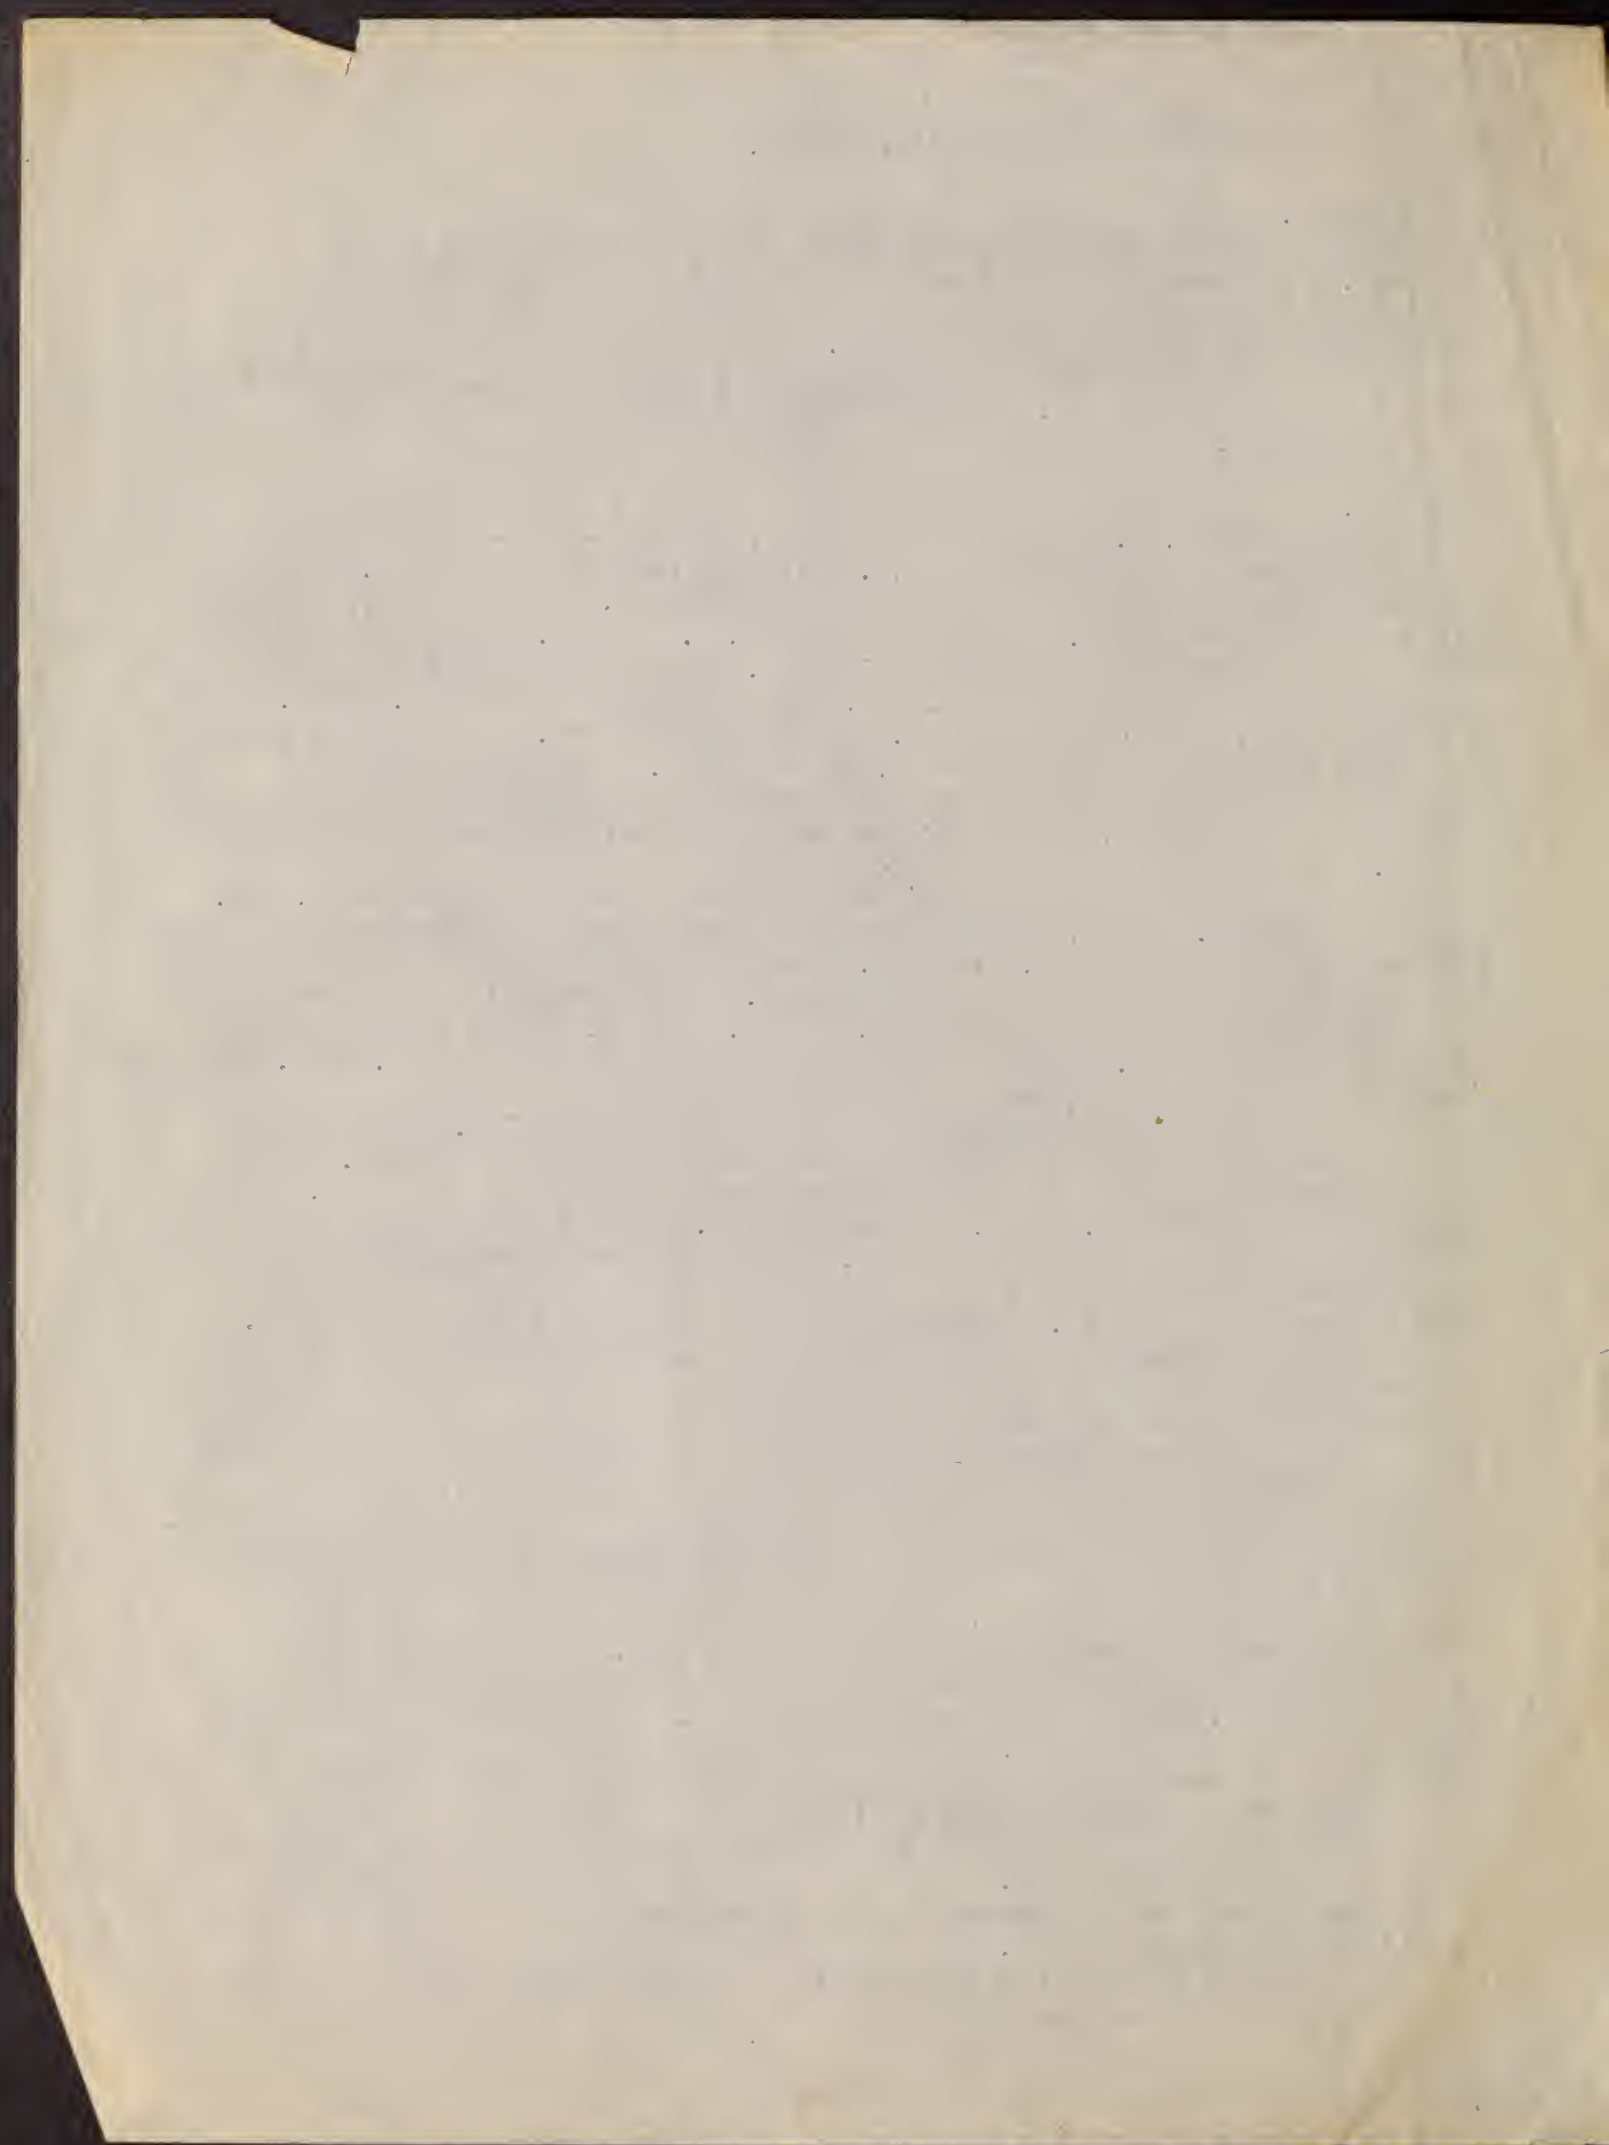

A review of the tax lists of Dutchess County shows

John Burley paying in 1750 to 1768.

John Freeman " " 1760 and after (His claim shows that he settled in Saratoga in 1766.

This places both men in Dutchess County, as neighbors, where the younger Burley children grew up and married.

I do not know where this John Burley came from. However, I suspect that he, like the Freemans, came across the border from Connecticut. I have Loyalist Claim at St. Johns, 1786-7.

Powell, Caleb.

" Solomon.

449 Montreal, March 17, 1786.

Evidence of the Claim of John Freeman, late of Saratoga, New York Province.

Thomas Freeman sworn says:

he is the son of John Freeman who died at St. Johns in 1777, leaving children, the deponent, Mary Moxon at South River, second claimant, Doreus Scott at South River, third claimant. Claimant was a soldier in Jessops in 1783 quartered at Riviere de Chaine and gave his claim to Capt Angus of Major Jessops Corps. His father was a native of America, and in 1775 lived at Stillwater. He joined the British Army at Stillwater. After the Convention he went to Canada. Claimant came with him, has been in Canada ever since and served three years in Jessops Corps. He now resides at South River. Produces a certificate from Simeon Covell to claimants father, having acted as a guide to Burgoyne's Army to his coming to Canada after the Convention, and remaining in St. Johns to his death, and to claimants having been in the British Army since 1777.

Property:

A farm on lease forever from General Schuyler. He had lived on it 11 years and had cleared 50 or 60 acres with a house and barn. One, Capt. Moxon has it. He left some of his cattle on the farm, viz., 13 sheep, some hogs and young cattle. His stock had been sold to the British Commissioners who gave his father receipts which were lost at his death; farming tools and furniture.

Witness:

Lewis Moxon sworn:

He is a brother-in-law to the claimant (John Scott is the other brother-in-law).
